

My Dream Job

In the future, I dream to be an artist one day. The famous painter Vincent Van Gogh has been my role model for a long time. I hope one day I can be like him and make many beautiful paintings.

I want to be an artist because I love art. I like both traditional art and digital art. I also want to earn a lot of money with my drawings and teach kids how to draw. I am very good at drawing and sketching so I am interested in doodling different things when I'm bored. I like to spend my free time colouring pictures. I started to learn how to draw since I was three and I find drawing really fun and a great way to pass the time.

If I become an artist, I will put my blood and sweat into my art pieces. I need to be patient and careful if I want to be an artist because drawing pictures to a perfect point needs lots of effort and any small mistakes can ruin it. With modern technology, AI can generate a wonderful drawing in a second effortlessly. But they can never replace human arts because they miss a key — creativity. Nobody likes to admire soulless and overly-perfect art. Small mistakes are what make the drawing precious. That's why I think drawing is a special job. I'll learn different drawing techniques like shading, blending, colour theories and practise my drawing skills to improve myself.

I think making pictures needs to be creative and artistic to come out with new things instead of using the same ideas over and over again. I am also going to enter more drawing competitions so that I can get a lot of awards and get hired.

I feel excited if I become an artist one day. I hope I will love and enjoy my job and live a happy life.
